

Figure 1: Flow-chart. The term “lost to follow-up” designated women who didn’t participate in any subsequent assessments. Women absent for one assessment but who completed one of the following assessments were not considered as having dropped out at this point.

